

56' ACF Center-Flow Hopper

CONTINENTAL POLYMERS #3000

Item No. 17510

GREAT NORTHERN #171304 - GLACIER GREEN

Item No. 17509

The American Car and Foundry Company (ACF) manufactured a variety of railroad cars, including the popular Center-Flow Hopper. Introduced in the 1960s and still seen today, these cars are used to transport bulk commodities such as corn, grain, and other dry goods such as plastic pellets. A Center-Flow Hopper can be distinguished from other types of bulk handling cars by the underside hatches for the discharge of their cargo. Bachmann Center-Flow Hoppers come in a variety of attractive and authentic colors and road names.
